

TABLE OF CONTENTS

	PAGE
EDITORIAL: WOMEN IN POLITICS ALICE BROWN	1
 CHILD LAW
SCOTLAND'S CHILDREN: GETTING OUR ACT TOGETHER? STEWART ASQUITH	5
 POLITICS
DEVOLUTION IN ENGLAND: A NORTH-EAST PERSPECTIVE JOYCE QUIN	22
PLAYING THE WESTMINSTER NUMBERS GAME PETER JONES	26
TOWARDS A DEMOCRATISED SCOTTISH OFFICE? RICHARD PARRY	41
 LOCAL GOVERNMENT
LOCAL GOVERNMENT REFORM: TAKING STOCK OF THE CONSERVATIVE APPROACH ARTHUR MIDWINTER	58

THE 'CHIEF EXECUTIVE' ROLE IN SCOTTISH LOCAL GOVERNMENT STEWART BLACK	72
	PAGE
TRANSPORT
RAIL PRIVATISATION: THE SWEDISH EXPERIMENT DAVID SPAVEN	87
SETTING FORTH - IN THE WRONG DIRECTION MICHAEL CARLEY	96
GENDER AND EDUCATION
RESEARCH ON GENDER IN EDUCATION: MONITORING BLEAKNESS OR INSTIGATING CHANGE? SALLY BROWN	107
THE GENDER IMBALANCE IN SCOTTISH EDUCATION MARGARET MACINTOSH	118
SYMPOSIUM ON HUGH MACDIARMID AND GENDER
GLOSSARY	125
FLYING WITH 'A DRUNK MAN' AILEEN CHRISTIANSON	126
GENDER AND SEXUALITY IN 'A DRUNK MAN' CHRISTOPHER WHYTE	136

CORRECTION

Because of a misunderstanding on the part of the editor, there was an error at the foot of page 49 of Scottish Affairs number 4. The phrase describing Home Responsibilities Protection as a scheme of private insurance is incorrect. HRP is part of the structure of the state pension scheme; there is nothing private about it, and it has nothing to do with insurance.